Atari Computer's Portfolio is the world's first palmtop personal computer. The one-pound system, which uses MS-DOS-compatible commands and can run adapted MS-DOS software, has a suggested retail price of under $400.

The first true, go-anywhere personal computer, Atari Computer's one-pound Portfolio palmtop computer is small enough to slip into a purse or suitcoat pocket.

For: Atari Computer
(408) 745-2000

Salespeople will find the Portfolio palmtop computer an invaluable tool while on the road. The system includes a built-in spreadsheet, text editor, calculator, appointment book program, address/phone directory and an operating system similar to MS-DOS 2.11.

Contact: Marken Communications
(408) 738-1115